*The artwork for the “Windrush Generations -Standing On Their Shoulders” Flag is a design that is creatively based on one of the iconic images signifying the SS Empire Windrush as it was docking into London’s port on June 22nd 1948. The 6 main colours of the design are typical of the national flags of the Caribbean and the UK. The rounded triangular form of the design is used throughout and has greater meaning to respectively convey the historical and nautical journey of people’s heritage though three continents - Africa to the Caribbean/America’s to the UK/Europe and bringing their rich contribution and heritage within the infamous ‘Transatlantic Trade Triangle’ a story not to be forgotten! Of which we will describe as - The Exchange , Sacrifice and Future Hope of truth, peace and equality for all generations.

This emblem has local and international connections having regional national and global acknowledgement by many people through their continued support and appreciation of the journeys made by the Windrush Generation and their ancestors as ‘we are standing on their shoulders’.

*We trust this flag, is approved by your committee to be flown high in a civic space annually between the period of June 21st and 30th June
